

Langshott Leadership Foundation

Letter from Langshott

19th September, 2021

My Dear friends and creative thinkers,

"I can exist without a begging bowl"
ak

The above metaphorical quotation is a beggar's humble expression of gratitude to his Maker. He has a sense of exaltation for freeing himself from the shackles of deprivation. His inner state of self-sufficiency is firmly embedded in his consciousness and he feels and says 'I already have what I need to sustain myself'.

This inner state is the key to being perpetually in blissfulness that comes from the underlying emotion 'all my needs are delivered in the fullness of time'. Such individuals feel truly blessed because they know that the Universe has limitless wealth to give, plus they have the secret code to enter the celestial ATM to fulfill all their needs.

True wealth is that sense of conviction that all of one's needs are fulfilled without fail. This is out-and-out glory and gratitude. All else is an expression of limited and conditional faith which for some may fill the bowl to the brim, but for many turn it into a yoke around their neck.
Be blessed.

Anil Kumar

Blogs

Perspective

Whilst in the middle of my shopping at a mall I sat on a bench for a little rest next to an old man.

Read More

Seven Deadly Sins

The stories of mayhem, conflict and atrocities of all kinds brought to us by the press and media continue unabated all

Read More

Anil's Working Creed

I strive to remain open-minded and let the mysteries of life
continue to bewilder me.

Books by Langshott (Anil Kumar)

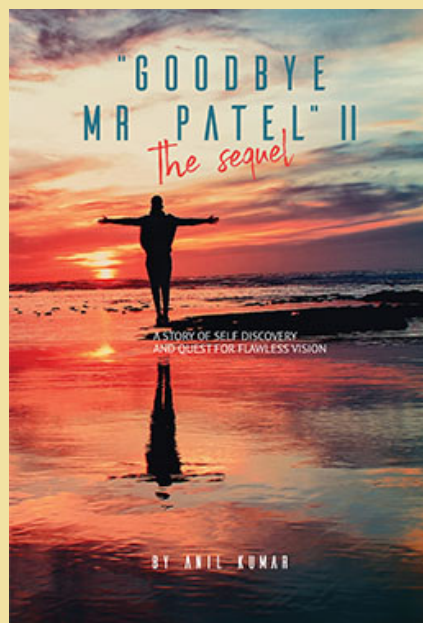

Goodbye Mr. Patel

Hard Cover & E-Book

Gentle Breeze of Daily Wisdom

Hard Cover

Goodbye Mr. Patel II - The Sequel

Hard Cover & E-Book

For older versions of Letter from Langshott, click here