You're Your Silent Chant

"The gift of mental power comes from God, a divine being,
and if we concentrate our minds on that truth,
we become in tune with this great power"

Nikola Tesla

We are a manifestation of our thoughts. As we are within, so are we without. We make ourselves by exploiting this inscrutable faculty of thought process placed in us by Nature. This is well-accepted wisdom that has been passed down over many generations.

Our mind is designed for us to write the virtual algorithms and instructions which create the flesh of our inner character and the preconceived drama of our outer circumstances. We mostly do this unconsciously and in ignorance of the incredibly powerful mechanism that is perpetually active inside us. We are therefore either victims of our ignorance and failure to exploit the mysterious dynamism or at best fortuitous beneficiaries of it. What we create is an accidental outcome of our unbridled thoughts. We joyfully experience synchronistic events in our daily life and settle for them as nothing more than mere coincidences and think no more of them.

But, it is said, there are some amongst us who are aware of the power of the mind and become adept at harnessing their thoughts from habitual tending of their mind and zealously weeding out unwanted thoughts. They are thus dynamic conscious shapers and makers of their life conditions and outcomes. Such charismatic masters of the mind are said to have crafted their own silent chant in the crucible of their disquieting countless daily thoughts.

A silent chant is a sum total of all of one's well-orchestrated mental catalogue of powerful attendant thoughts, aspirations, intentions, wishes, desires, and all such enduring emotions encapsulated in affirmations that are personal and intimate only to the subject person. Over a period of time, these become deeply internalized and integrated into the subconscious mind of the subject and thus guide all their actions and enhance personal life. This is their, and only their, secret to becoming consummate beings in all walks of life. The silent chant has to be zealously guarded and treated as a sacred aspect of their being. The chant is enablement for them to be, have, and create all noble achievements they aspire for. The chant even for all its potency must not be misapplied with ill intentions. Any attempt to do so is stymied anyway by conscience, the overseer.

A dedicated personalization and practice of the silent chant ushers in sagacious wisdom for solutions to problems and conflicts which more and more of us desperately need to recapture the waning peace and prosperity on this planet.

The Silent Chant is silent because it is internalized and deeply embedded in one's subconscious and is an integral component of one's construct. It is an avenue for rising to one's spiritual summit.

Not to attempt to realize and put into practice even a thistle of the great enablement we are blessed with is the worst form of ingratitude for the Maker of our Mind, Body, and Spirit.

Happy manifesting!!!!

Be Blessed
